

'tis sweet to think, when haleyon mirth
Decks the white hours with garlands new,
Bidding enjoyment spring to birth,
One whom I love, partakes it too.—

That not alone, you sunny sky,
Those landscapes, where young beauties smile,
Charm my rapt sense—another eye
Gazes with equal joy the while.

'tis sweet to think, when care is near,
And disappointments vex the heart,
There's one to kiss away the tear,
And bid intruding ills depart.—

That when corroding sorrows press
This bosom, and e'en hope seems flown,
One yet is with me, whose caress
Tells me I am not alone.

Latest from England.

Mercury Office, Charleston, 2
March 9—1 o'clock, P. M.

By the Mary Catharine, arrived this morning, we have received Liverpool papers to the 13th ult. inclusive. The prospect of war between France and Spain is strengthened by the London papers and by accounts from Paris. The Spanish minister had received orders from the Castero to leave Paris. The Duke D'Angoulême's baggage had left Paris for the frontiers, and several trains of artillery and regiments of troops had set out for the Spanish frontier. Spanish bonds in London 35—It is asserted in the French papers that the armes of France will not pass the Pyrenees before March. Consols on the 11th February at 12 o'clock, 73½ Markets for cotton lively and a small improvement. Wheat was up in England.

LONDON, February 11.
Cits, half past 12 o'clock—The alarm in the money market continues excessive. Consols which closed yesterday at 74½ opened at 74, and declined to 73; since then a reaction has taken place, and at this moment they are at 73½. Spanish Bonds have declined from 37 to 35.

Paris papers of sunday last have arrived, which inform us that the address of the Chamber of Deputies to his Majesty, in the form in which it was presented to the Chamber, was adopted, after a stormy discussion, in a secret session by a majority of 292 to 92; all the amendments proposed to it having been rejected.

The Sea d'Urgel has been taken by Mina. The brave, the heroic Romagosa, has abandoned a place which was destitute of provisions: two convoys which the Baron d'Etoiles sent to the Sea never arrived.

London, Feb. 9.

HOUSE OF LORDS—Tuesday, Feb. 4.
This being the day to which Parliament was prorogued for the dispatch of business, it was opened by commission. The Lord Chancellor read the Speech, which was as follows:

"My Lords and Gentlemen,

"We are commanded by his Majesty to inform you in Parliament, his Majesty's efforts have been unremittingly exerted to preserve the peace of Europe.

"Faithful to the principles which his Majesty has promulgated to the world, as constituting the rule of his conduct, his Majesty deemed becoming party to any proceedings at Verona, which could be deemed an interference in the internal concerns of Spain on the part of Foreign Powers. And his Majesty has since used, his most anxious endeavours and good offices to allay the irritation unhesitatingly subsisting between the French and Spanish Governments; and to avert, if possible the calamity of war between France and Spain.

"In the East of Europe his Majesty flatters himself that peace will be preserved, and that his Majesty continues to receive from his Allies, and generally from other powers, assurances of their unaltered disposition to cultivate with his Majesty those friendly relations which it is equally his

the Court of Madrid, respecting depredations committed on the commerce of his Majesty's subjects in the West Indian Seas, and other grievances of which his Majesty had been under the necessity of complaining, those discussions have terminated in an admission by the Spanish government of the justice of his Majesty's complaints, and in an engagement for a satisfactory reparation.

We are commanded to assure you that his Majesty has not been unmindful of the Address presented to him by the two Houses of Parliament with respect to the Foreign Slave Trade.

"Propositions for the more effectual suppression of that evil were brought forward by his majesty's Plenipotentiary in the conference at Verona, and there have been added to the Treaties upon this subject already concluded between his majesty and the governments of Spain and the Netherlands, articles which will extend the operation of those Treaties, and greatly facilitate their execution."

"Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

"His Majesty has directed the estimates of the current year to be laid before you. They have been framed with every attention to economy; and where magazines are to be established—to use all means (including distress) to enforce payment, and to collect, by anticipation, those which will be incurred on the 30th June next.

The civil war continued; but a Gibraltar paragraph of Feb. 17, says the Governor of Lerida has communicated to government a dispatch he had received from Gen. Mina's headquarters at Adra, under date of the 3d inst, announcing the surrender of the forts of Urgel; and accordingly, a vote of thanks to the General and to his army passed the Cortes on the 6th, en masse, and they were declared to have deserved well of the country.

The Constitutional General Rotor, had burnt

Sao Llorens de Dorun, alias Pitius, and all the country houses within one league, because the inhabitants were unfriendly to the Constitution.

On the 4th, six individuals, confined in the prison of Grenada, on a charge of conspiracy against the system, were massacred by the mob who forced the door open in the first hours of the night. The Royalists remained in Huete on the 9th, and Count Abispal was only waiting for troops from Valencia to attack them. He had sent an engineer to drain the ground near the town, as it was so much covered with water by the late rains as to render it impassable to artillery.

Brigadier Plasencia, who was taken prisoner in the action near Briviesca, has been allowed to return to Madrid. He is said to be indebted for his release to a want of union between some of the leaders.

Count Abispal, commander of the Provinces of Madrid, ad interim, has two brothers in the Royal army, from one of whom he has lately received a letter, reproaching him for the disgrace he has brought upon his family by deserting to the Constitutionalists, and challenging him to lead on his troops and meet the army of the faith.

In the sitting of the Cortes of the 15th, it was resolved THAT THE KING SHOULD REPAIR TO CORUNNA, and on the 16th, his Majesty with the royal family, was to set out for that place.

FROM THE ETOILE.

Paris, Tuesday evening, Feb. 4.—The sitting of the Chamber of Peers yesterday was very remarkable.

Several Peers spoke in the same sense as the whigs might have done in the House of Peers in England, and in a war undertaken against the military insurrection, the sovereignty of the people, and for the freedom of the King, they showed themselves much more struck with the danger than with the honour of such an undertaking.—The opposition on the left wished to introduce into the address to the King, proposed by the Duke de Lévis, an amendment to the same effect as the articles we have read for the last two or three months in the Constitutional and Peletorium peace and war. The Minister of Finance, (Villele) and the Minister of Foreign Affairs, took upon themselves all the responsibility of the speech from the Crown; and both professed openly that France would act as France, and that he would not lay down his arms till order should be restored to Spain." The Minister of Finance observed how important it was to France not only as a point of honour, but as a positive interest that the dynasty of the Bourbons should not be shaken at Madrid.

After the speech of the Minister of Finance against the amendment, which depicted war as replete with dangers to our dearest interests (which is not true in any manner) a part of the opposition was so impressed with this that they proposed another amendment—the Chamber rejected the amendment, and adopted the address by a great majority.

The Duke of San Lorenzo received yesterday from the government of the Cortes the order to quit Paris immediately with his legation.

Count Laga-de, our Ambassador, has left Madrid.

A letter from Brest, of the 21st January, furnishes the following details: "The courier brought yesterday orders to fit out immediately the Centaine of 80 guns, and the Flora frigate. We have already in our harbour two 74's, a ship of the line cut down, two frigates and several corvettes.—They are all ready to sail. Orders have been given to re-establish the Semaphores on the coast; powder, balls, bombs, have been sent to Bayonne; levies of sailors are already ordered here, and will be ordered also in parts of France.

FRON LIMA AND RIO JANEIRO.

BALTIMORE, March 28.—The elegant brig Harriet, Capt. Mathew Kelly, from Lima, and forty-three days from Rio Janeiro, arrived below last night. Capt. K. who came up to the steam boat Maryland, has politely communicated for the American the following interesting intelligence.

A revolution had taken place in Chili, and an army was on its march from Concepcion to Santiago. The crops in Chili were good; American flour was prohibited, and eighty per cent, duty charged on all their imports from the United States.

The Brazilian Congress had not assembled, and it was doubtful if they ever would. Some of the provinces refused to send deputies. Pernambuco had declared for a republic.

Morales.—The last news from this uncommon warrior, is the following, from a Havana paper of March 7.

"On the 23d of Feb. arrived at the port of Holguin, Capt. D. Manuel Carmona, who left Maracaibo on the 13th of said month, and positively announced that Gen. Morales entered Curacao with his army; a deputation had previously saluted out of the city to welcome him, and had met him at a distance of 10 leagues. Our informant further says that the ship San Pablo had arrived at Puerto Cabello, with troops and money, and that a circular order had been sent to the respective commandants of land forces, that all strangers who should be taken in arms, should be put to death within three hours of their capture."

Extract of a letter from Hawe, dated February 15.

"We are still uncertain as to the question of war. If we judge from appearances here, it is certain; but as England is trying to prevent it, and if it takes place without her consent will take part against France, I think the chances are in favor of a continuation of peace."

"The accounts you will receive from both sides

the channel will enable you, perhaps, to form a

of the French King. In what manner this speech was received by the faithless "Army of the Faith," will be seen by the Proclamation of O'Donnell, commander of an Ultra Royal force in Navarre, encouraging his troops, recommending them to cultivate union and discipline, and flattering them with soon reaching Madrid, and restoring to his legitimate rights, a descendant of Henry IV.

At Cadiz, tranquillity had been restored. The mere reading of the riot act, it seems was sufficient to induce the malcontents to disperse.

The Cortes have empowered government to receive produce in payment of taxes, for the purposes of victualing the fortresses, and places where magazines are to be established—to use all means (including distress) to enforce payment, and to collect, by anticipation, those which will be incurred on the 30th June next.

The civil war continued; but a Gibraltar paragraph of Feb. 17, says the Governor of Lerida has communicated to government a dispatch he had received from Gen. Mina's headquarters at Adra, under date of the 3d inst, announcing the surrender of the forts of Urgel; and accordingly, a vote of thanks to the General and to his army passed the Cortes on the 6th, en masse, and they were declared to have deserved well of the country.

The Constitutional General Rotor, had burnt country houses within one league, because the inhabitants were unfriendly to the Constitution.

prison of Grenada, on a charge of conspiracy against the system, were massacred by the mob who forced the door open in the first hours of the night.

THE OLLIO.

"VARIETY'S THE VERY SPICE OF LIFE, THAT GIVES IT ALL ITS FLAVOUR."

Unhappy difference between 'Twas and 'Tis.
When first I wed—what joy! what bliss!
'Twas then a smile, and then a kiss—
'Twas, omnia vincit amor!
But now, as 'tis fond of brawls,
And children make a thousand squalls,
'Tis, omnia vincit clamor.

Martial's Epigram on Self Murder.
When all the blandishments of life are gone,
The Coward creeps to Death, the brave live on.

ANECDOTE.—Some years ago, during the time the yellow fever prevailed in Philadelphia, one of our citizen shopkeepers took refuge in a small town in Jersey. In this place he opened his wares, the cheapness of which soon attracted customers; an old lady among others came from a distance to buy garments, but not knowing exactly the store she made some inquiry, but as there were several stores in the town, she was desired to mention the shopkeeper's name—but this she disremembered, but it sounded to her something like oat-meal and salt-cup.—Whimsical as was this idea, these sounds so nearly resembled the name that the old lady was quickly put in her way to the cheap shop.

The Negro Pilot.—A ship going over Charleston Bar, with a negro pilot on board, the Captain asked him "what water she was in?" to which he answered, "salt-water massa." "I know that," replied the captain, "but how much water is there?" "Eh, massa," says ebony, "you tink me bring in for measure um?"

Mr. Lang, the editor of the N. York Gazette, pays the following compliment to one of his correspondents:—"It might be supposed, from the tenor of the following remarks of a New-Worker, that there had been some concert between him and Common Sense; but we do not believe they have any knowledge of each other."

Prairie Dogs.—The Rev. Samuel Giddings, Methodist Missionary, of St. Louis, who took a tour among the Western Indians last spring and summer, gives the following account, in his journal, of these singular animals:

June 14, 1822.—We passed a village of barking squirrels, or prairie dogs. They have the appearance of the grey squirrel in color and shape, but are three times as large. Their noise exactly resembles that of the smaller kind of dogs. They burrow in the earth, and are never seen far from their habitation. They live on grass and herbage; and not a spear of grass is suffered to grow within the bounds of their village. On the first appearance of danger, they flee to the mouth of their burrow, and when it comes near, they enter, and can rarely be driven out by smoke or water.—Thousands dwell in the village, forming a little community. Their burrows are from ten to twenty feet apart, with a mound of dirt at the entrance, of from one to two feet in height, which serves as a watch-tower. On the approach of danger, they raise an incessant barking. We were much annoyed during the night by the barking of these animals."
